Amended Mission Statement for the College of Charleston

President McConnell provided background information regarding the College of Charleston’s revised Mission Statement, which will be presented to the full Board for approval this morning.

Despite the General Assembly’s failure to pass legislation granting the College research university status during its final days of this legislative session, the College will continue to push for designation as a research university. To that end, approval of a revised Mission Statement will be requested by the full Board today, with the approved statement to be distributed to the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education prior to its meeting on August 7.

The change in language adding “research institution” to the Mission Statement will give the College of Charleston, through its University of Charleston, South Carolina, component, the ability to award doctoral degrees if they are determined to be necessary in the future. The College will remain a preeminent liberal arts institution with a strong commitment to undergraduate education. A revised Mission Statement and doctoral-granting status will allow the College to increase collaboration with other higher education institutions in the area.

Trustee Cherry Daniel applauded President McConnell for his position on the matter. She plans to attend the CHE meeting on August 7.

Trustee Dan Ravenel noted that the College must still ask for CHE’s approval for any future doctoral program. President McConnell noted that the research university designation will give the faculty, administration, and Board of Trustees a tool by which to do something if an appropriate opportunity presents itself.

Trustee John Busch called attention to the fact that the College of Charleston will remain primarily a liberal arts school.

Following discussion, Chair Padgett asked for unanimous consent to dispense with the reading of the “College of Charleston/University of Charleston, South Carolina Resolution of the Board of Trustees Revised Mission Statement,” as all Board members were provided with a copy of the Resolution for review prior to the meeting. All in favor.
The motion was made by Trustee Jeff Schilz, and seconded by Trustee Cherry Daniel, that the Board approve the College of Charleston/University of Charleston, South Carolina Resolution of the Board of Trustees Revised Mission Statement” as presented. The Chair called for the yeas and nays, and the motion passed unanimously by voice vote. All in favor.
